Atmore Rapidly Growing

ATMORE — Atmore has been rapidly progressing for the past two weeks. Last week several cellars were dug in the residential area south of the highway. In the near future houses will be constructed on these now vacant lots.

Construction has also begun on the church. Last week the basement was dug and this week the foundation was laid.

A lean-to on the hall has also been started. This lean-to will make more room for dancing, collecting tickets and serving lunch.

Another building that has changed its appearance is the Atmore General Store which is owned by Mr. C. Bower. The front is now covered with imitation brick.

Mr. Presber has finished building his planer shed and other buildings which were destroyed by fire. His new power units and equipment are also installed and the planer is ready to operate.

Best men were Peter Franchuk of Smoky Lake, cousin of the bride, and Larry Shandro of Lac la Biche.

Mrs. Peter Ponich, aunt of the bride and maid of honor, looked lovely in a yellow dress with a crown of yellow sweet peas.

Usher, Mr. Harry Lobay, wore a black suit.

After the reception everybody went to the bride's home where a very delicious supper was served.

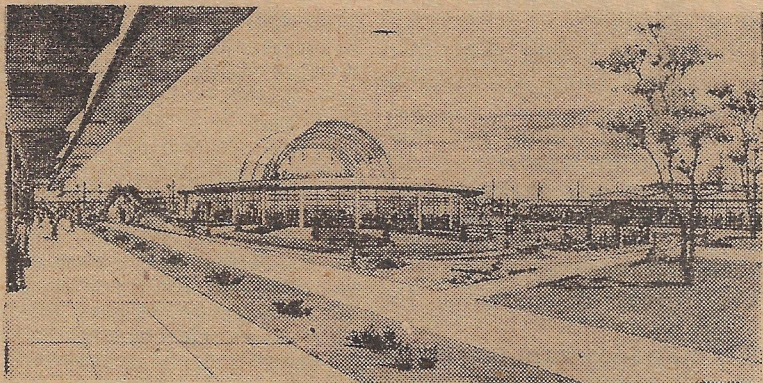

The couple received a large donation as well as many beautiful and useful gifts.

The evening ended by dancing on the platform where everybody had a very good time.

On May 29, a wedding supper and dance was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Warawa at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warawa of Lac la Biche.

A delicious supper was served, later everybody went to the Memorial Hall where the wedding march commenced, directed by Mr. Ross Mitchell.

Following a donation, lunch was served and everybody danced till 2 a.m. with music by the Northern Flow Boys.

Couple Wed At Quiet Bridal

LAC LA BICHE — Gwendoline Isabel Blair became the bride of Mr. Wilfred Eugene Lewis in a quiet bridal Tuesday afternoon in the United Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Blair of Lac la Biche. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Lewis of Fort Saskatchewan.

Rev. D. A. Greenough officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore a gown of white brocaded organdy over taffeta. Her veil, which was worn previously by her mother on her wedding day, mistimed from a small organdy cap trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations, and wore as her only jewelry a wrist watch presented by the groom.

Wearing an aqua gown of nylon over taffeta, and matching earrings and pendant, Miss Beulah Quast preceded the bride down the aisle. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a two-piece dress of blue moire. Her corsage was of pink carnations and red roses. The groom's mother wore a dress of mauve crepe and a corsage of pink carnations and red roses.

Mr. Everet Isly was best man, and Mr. Donald Blair, brother of the bride was usher.

Mrs. T. B. Lett played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony a small reception was held at the bride's home. Toast to the bride was given by Rev. Mr. Greenough.

Dalgleish, both of Kitscoty; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Edstrom and daughter Sharon of Edberg; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Lewis, parents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Everet Isly, all of Fort Saskatchewan; Miss Marjorie Lewis, Mrs. Lang and Mr. Lewis, sisters and brother of the groom, all of Irma.

For travelling the bride wore a blue-grey suit and white accessories. After the honeymoon at Jasper the newlyweds will make their home at Fort Saskatchewan.

Students' Union Sponsors Banquet, Dance For Grads

LAC LA BICHE—Last Thursday evening in the Doctor Swift's School a banquet was held in honor of the graduates of grade twelve, who are: Miss Denise Gervais, class valedictorian; Miss Rita Peltier, who gave the class poem; Miss Sylvia Sawchuk and Albert Stratchuk, who gave the class prophesy in the form of a skit; Miss Donna Grandinetti, Miss Mary Tesolin, Nick Ugancz, Miss Margaret Bowman, and Miss Beatrice Currat. Beatrice did not attend the banquet. The girls wore white formal gowns with rose corsages.

Mr. Selinger acted as chairman for the evening and Mr. Hall was guest speaker. The banquet was prepared and served by the grade eleven girls with the co-operation of teachers, parents and the other members of the Students' Union.

Rainy weather did its best to spoil the graduation dance held in the Memorial Hall, by making it impossible for the orchestra which was engaged for the evening to come, but another was found and the dance went on despite the weather.

Hon. Drilling broke tower last Wednesday at lease No. 1, 3/4 of a mile north of Caslan on Mr. Johnston's farm. They are now at No. 3 Trans-Emire-Admiral Gateways, nine miles east of Boyle.

Graduates Guests Of Honor At Social

BOYLE—Friday evening, June 6th, a social evening was held in honor of the Graduating Class in the High School. The graduates were Pauline Kowalchuk, John Barronik, and Victor Nakonochy. Mr. N. Andraski presented them with their scrolls, and presented other pupils with crests for different activities in which they had taken part during the year.

Mrs. McIntyre of Colinton sang two lovely solos, which were enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. Merkley, the school superintendent, gave a speech on the future of the Graduate Class, and how beneficial their school days were.

A lovely lunch followed, sponsored by the Home and School.

Later in the evening a dance was held in the Community Hall, sponsored by the Students' Union. A large crowd attended and fun was had by all.

Visitors to the city for the week-end were Mary Skoreyko, Pearl Holst, and Billy McNamara.

Mr. Jack Cassidy, who was very ill, is up and around again, and feeling much better.

Ulliac-Favennec Nuptials Performed

GOURIN—St. Isidore's church in Plamondon was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday, June 9, when Rita, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francois Favennec, became the bride of Albert, eldest son of the Mr. and Mrs. John Ulliac of Gourin. Rev. A. Ricard officiated.

The bride was lovely when she entered the church on the arm of her father, wearing a floor-length gown of lace over satin bodice and net yoke. It featured a full skirt of nylon marquisette over satin with lace panels. The sleeves were lily-point. It had a fitted bodice that buttoned down the back to below the waist with tiny lace-covered buttons. She wore a three-quarter length veil held in place by a lovely headdress. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white and pink carnations. Her only jewellery was a three-strand pearl necklace with matching earrings.

The bridesmaids were Annette, sister of the bride, who wore a floor-length gown of blue sheer nylon, and Melanie, cousin of the groom, who wore a floor length gown of pink brocaded satin. They both wore shoulder length veils and net mittens to match. They carried lovely nosegays of roses.

The best men were Armand, brother of the bride, and Daniel, brother of the groom.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where the bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a lovely green crepe dress, while the groom's mother chose a blue crepe dress. Both mothers wore lovely corsages.

In the evening a free dance was given in their honor in the Plamondon Community Hall, to a large crowd of relatives and friends.

The happy couple will be at home to their many friends at Gourin.

Tractor Overturns; Man Killed Instantly

ATMORE—Harry Lapaichuk, 45, of Blue Jay, was instantly killed Monday evening about 8:45 when he was pinned under his 44 tractor while en route to Grassland to get tractor repairs.

The accident occurred on a high graded road about two miles from Atmore. Apparently under the influence of alcohol, he lost control of the tractor which overturned pinning him under it.

Passersby who removed the machine from the body, found the tractor had received little damage. The top was dented somewhat and the exhaust and breather were broken off.

The accident victim had been a bachelor and had recently lost his house by fire.

It is believed his mother, sister and a brother live in Edmonton.

RCMP. Lac la Biche detachment, were notified and are investigating.

On Alcoholism

The Calgary Albertan says that no more disgraceful monument to our disreputable handling of the liquor problem could be raised than the filthy beer parlors into which men and woman are herded if they wish to enjoy a drink. It says that nobody knows the answer to the problem, but it is felt that alcoholic beverages should not be served in any public place where meals are not served. That is, beer should be sold in the hotel dining room and not in any special beer room.

Undoubtedly this condition contributes to our rising population of alcoholics.

At a recent panel discussion, during the meeting of the American Academy of General Practice, doctors in the discussion agreed that alcoholism is a disease that can be treated but not cured. Doctor Selden Bacon, director of the Yale Centre of Alcohol Studies, said that, contrary to the popular notion, the typical habitant of "Skid Row" may not be an alcoholic. Homeless men, without personal assets or ambitions, he said, may drink to excess because of the effect.

Therefore, these misplaced individuals naturally gravitate to the hotel beer parlor where they can souse undisturbed from ten in the morning until ten at night.

Dr. Harold Loven, of New York, a psychiatrist, said that medical treatment of alcoholism must extend over a period of a year or more beyond the acute stage. The patient must have a high protein and fat diet and a low carbohydrate intake. The Right Reverend Clinton S. Quin, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Texas, said that a big step toward the treatment of alcoholism would come when the public began to believe that it was not a disgrace and physicians could assure their patients that they were not immoral.

Alcoholism is one of the major scourges on the social scene in Canada. It is a disease to be treated by a combination of religious, medical and social efforts. Better understanding of the nature of the disease is necessary before the general public can be most effective in trying to help victims.

The panel, asked to explain how one could recognize an alcoholic, stated that an alcoholic was a man, or woman, whose drinking began to interfere with the pattern of fixed loyalties in his, or her life — loyalties to family, friends, job and other major goals.

Early Summerfallowing Urged

Farmers are urged by officials of the Dominion experimental station at Swift Current to begin their summerfallowing as early as possible in the spring. Weed growth should be prevented so that moisture stored in the soil can be saved for the succeeding crop. Officials at the station say that the loss of an inch of water through weed growth means a loss of from three to four bushels per acre.

Early fallowing not only increases yields, but results in a cleaner succeeding crop which is more efficient in the use of moisture.

On the average at that station 2.2 inches of moisture can be saved between harvest and seeding time the following spring. If weeds are allowed to grow throughout the summerfallow season, they use up this moisture together with what could be conserved during the May to October fallow period.

Long Distance

The editor was busy at his desk when the phone rang. An irate subscriber was on the other end. "I noticed in your paper," the reader shouted, "that you printed I was dead."

"Is that so?" was the indifferent response. "And where are you calling from?"

The Bible Today

No man, when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a secret place, neither under a bushel, but on a candlestick, that they which come in may see the light. — St. Luke, XI, 35.

Shame of the Gallows

A Polish immigrant, convicted of the knife-slaying of his estranged wife on an Edmonton street, is to be hung at the end of a rope, by his neck, and whether his neck is broken or he just strangles to death, he will be allowed to swing with his hands tied behind his back and a black mask on his face until he is dead.

The is Canadian law. It is a law which fails to answer the question:

"What good will it do to kill this man?"

Will it bring his wife back to life again? Will it result in a sense of gratification flowing into the soul of society?

Will it dissuade other young men, in a fit of drunken passion, from committing similar acts of murder?

The wife is dead; and killing her husband will not bring back life. Modern society has, we hope, rid itself of any barbaric feelings of satisfaction over this forthcoming hanging. Crime facts prove that the threat of life imprisonment is just as effective a deterrent as the threat of hanging for murder?

How long will it take to reform our criminal laws? When will common sense prevail so that a man, convicted of murder, can be put to work for life, behind bars, where he can work out repayment to society for his crime?

Is Hitler Still Alive?

The fascinating question whether Adolf Hitler died just before the Russians entered Berlin in May, 1945, or whether he still lives, was revived recently when a Nazi submarine was salvaged off the Island of Funen. Salvagers found huge quantities of canned foods, rotting sausages and soup cubes in the torpedo tubes of the submarine.

Investigation showed that all the tubes were stuffed with canned foods and that no torpedoes or ammunition was on board. The submarine was hit and sunk just three days before the end of the war by a British Royal Air Force plane. No log or other papers were found on board the vessel.

This submarine was accompanied by two other submarines, one of which was sunk, according to Allied records. However, there is no indication of the fate of the third submarine, which has never been accounted for. Because there were stories, during the last days of the Nazi reign in Germany, that top Nazi leaders were making plans to flee Germany by submarine, there are many who will wonder whether any top Nazis are still alive — having escaped Germany in the third sub of the three previously mentioned, or another underseas craft.

"What They Pay For"

(From the Brantford Expositor)

The moving picture theatre, which used to be a place where you could go to see and hear a picture and relax if the feature wasn't stirring, has deteriorated, in part, into a munchery for morons. There are more appropriate places in which to rustle paper bags and chew smelly peanuts, popcorn and whatnot.

And now some theatres are pestering their patrons with advertising trailers showed in between the regular film entertainment. Judging by comments heard, on occasion, however, there must be some folk who become so annoyed over this imposition that they decline henceforth to buy any of the stuff depicted.

The theatres charge a certain fee for the entertainment they offer. People who go to the theatres expect to get what they pay for, not to have forced on them something commercial someone else has paid to have inserted in the program.

It will be argued by the promoters of movie trailers that newspapers, the radio and television carry advertising. They do. But readers do not have ads forced upon them; they can read or not, as they please, depending on whether the ad interests them.

Business ethics will improve when the public applauds a man for not making profit his sole aim in all transactions.

Voice of the People

FUA STAND ON RURAL POWER

In a recent issue of your paper, there appeared a long article on the question of Rural Electrification in Alberta. This article carried no signature, nor was it styled an advertisement, but from its context it was evidently issued by the Power Companies or someone in their pay.

In this article, the present system under which some Alberta farms are being electrified, was praised from every angle as the soundest and best possible. We were assured that the farmers love it, and want nothing else. In fact we were given to understand that any suggestion that there could be anything better, is just the idea of a few disgruntled individuals.

Actually the article, in question is inaccurate and misleading in the extreme and is a fair sample of the propaganda whereby the private power companies are striving to maintain their stranglehold on Alberta. That propaganda is now very evident throughout the Province.

Of course it is easy to understand the enthusiasm of the power companies for the present set-up in Alberta. Under it, they are relieved of all responsibility for the rural lines, while controlling and making large profits out of the system as a whole, including those same rural lines which the farmers are forced to pay for. That the farmers tolerate at all, this unfair and one-sided arrangement, proves the desperate need for power which exists on Alberta farms. However the fact that a farmer bows to the Power Company's terms rather than go without power, does not prove the plan suitable; nor does it remove the sense of resentment at being forced to accept a raw deal.

Now let us look at a few facts on this question of rural electrification in Alberta. First off all, electricity is needed on every Alberta farm. It is one thing, more than anything else, which can modernize a farm. If we expect to keep enough people on the farm to supply the needs of the whole population without paying too high prices for food, power must be available to the farmer. From this angle it is to the interest of all to help the farmer get power, and society as a whole can well afford to take some responsibility here.

It is probable that some 10 to 15% of Alberta farms are too isolated to be economically served from power lines. For these, help should be given by way of providing power plants, windchargers, batteries, etc. at wholesale cost. For the other 85%, or say 70,000 farms, we need a plan which will bring the power lines to all of them within a few years time. This is the job which needs doing. It can and must be done.

It is quite obvious that the system presently being followed in Alberta will not do the job, as there is no chance of 70,000 farmers being able to put up $1,000 or more apiece to build power lines. Nor should they be expected to do so. The average Alberta farmer needs a little spare cash to meet the expense of modernizing his buildings and equipment for the use of power. He should not be forced, in addition, to make a large outlay for a power line. That line should be provided by the authority which owns the whole system. Since the Power Companies have refused to accept their responsibilities in this matter, they have only themselves to blame if we advocate a different system for Alberta.

There is, also, the further point that in a public utility such as electric power which tends naturally to monopoly control, a public body such as a Power Commission is best fitted to do the job. Furthermore, under a Commission, the earnings of the whole system are available for its extension. Since one Government does not tax another, a Provincial Power Commission is not subject to Federal Income Tax, and so the very considerable sums which Power Companies pay in Income Taxes could be saved to Alberta power users.

That this matter of Power Company profits in Alberta has great significance for farmers is shown in the following table:

Profits of Alberta Power Companies 5-Year Period, 1947-1951

Calgary Power—	Net Profits	Dominion Taxes	Total
	$5,829,813	$4,357,880	$10,187,693
Canadian Utilities—
	$1,503,138	$1,252,074	$ 3,055,212

Grand total 5-year period ...$13,242,905

These figures are interesting to farmers for the light they shed upon where the money is going which could be used to build the rural lines.

At the end of 1951 there were supposed to be 15,000 farms in Alberta connected to power lines. The minister in charge, Hon. Mr. Robinson, has quoted $831.00 per farm as the average cost to the farmer on lines built previously. On this basis the $13,242,905 earned by the power companies during the past 5 years would have paid for power lines to connect 15,935 farms. To put it another way:

Power Company profits
plus taxes	$13,242,905
Cost of lines to serve
15,000 at $831 each	12,465,000

Difference$ 777,905

These figures show that the profits made by Power Companies in Alberta during the last five years plus Federal taxes (which a Power Commission would not be liable for) would have paid for all the rural lines in Alberta with over three-quarters of a million dollars to spare.

In Alberta we have a Provincial Power Commission which was created in 1944. It has ample powers but has never been given the chance to use them. All the main farm organizations of Alberta, including the F.U.A., the A.F.A. and the Rural Municipal Association, have been asking the Government to put the Power Commission in charge of the job of electrifying Alberta. We have further asked that the Commission build the power lines into the rural areas without direct charge to the farmer as is done in Manitoba, and reimburse those who have already paid for lines. Of course this would require money and the Government of Alberta would have to advance large sums for a considerable term of years. But the cost would not be nearly so great as claimed by this propaganda which is intended to frighten the public and the whole province in Canada in a better position to do this job, as Alberta has large cash reserves which could be invested in our own electric power system. Actually the province is in a far better position to build the power lines than either the individual farmers or the Power Companies, because it can get additional money (if needed) much cheaper than they can.

The stand of the farm organizations on the electric power question was backed up by the rural people by large majorities in the 1948 plebiscite, and it is absurd to suggest (as the Power Companies do in their propaganda) that Alberta farmers are satisfied with the present system. In this propaganda they make the base and mean appeal to the well-to-do farmer, who has already paid for his share of line, to forget about his brother farmer in the less favored areas. Evidently our Power Companies are following the old idea of "divide and rule."

In the U.S.A. where public power development has made it possible to really push rural electrification, the percentage of farms electrified now stands at

THE LIGHTER SIDE

NOT SO DUMB

Farmer (pulling with 1 mule):
"Giddap Pete! Giddap Barney!
Giddap Johnny! Giddap Ralph!"
Stranger: "How many names does that mule have?"

Farmer: "His name's Pete, but he don't know his own strength, so I put blinders on him, yell a lot of names, and he thinks other mules are helping him."

ABSOLUTELY RIGHT

"Tell me sir, who was braver than Lancelot, wiser than Socrates, more honorable than Lincoln, wittier than Mark Twain, and more handsome than Aplo?"
"My wife's first husband."

NAMES FOR ALL

A census taker asked a woman how many children she had.
"Well," she began, "there's Willie and Henry, and Martha, and—"

"Never mind the names," he said impatiently, "just give me the numbers."

His tone aroused the mother's indignation. "They haven't got numbers," she said sharply, "they all got names."

NOT PRACTICAL

"Arithmetic is a science of truth," said the professor earn estly. "Figures can't lie. For instance, if one man can build a house in 12 days, 12 men can build it in one."

"Yes," interrupted a quickbrained student. "Then 288 will build it in one hour, 17,280 in one minute, and 1,936,800 in one second. And I don't believe they could lay one brick in that time."

While the professor was still gasping, the smart "ready reckoner" went on: "Again, if one ship can cross the Atlantic in six days, six ships can cross it in one day.
I don't believe that either; so where's the truth in arithmetic?"

"POSTURIZED"

The question in the physiology examination read: "How may one obtain good posture?"

The country puzzled a moment, then wrote: "Keep the cows off
it and let it grow."

ONLY TROUBLE

First Communist: Nice weather
we're having.

Second Communist: Yeah, but the rich are having it, too!

VERY ACCOMMODATING

Tom: "My wife came from a very large family. Did yours?"

Jerry: "No, she brought it with her."

BIG EXPANSION PLANNED BY C.I.L.

(From the Montreal Gazette)

Among the major projects of industrial expansion and development currently under way in various parts of Canada, many involve the manufacture, from the basic, initial stages, of products hitherto imported in finished form, or as partly processed materials for secondary finishing. Canada is thus establishing a still broader foundation on which to stand on its own feet in turning out a wide variety of modern industrial products, some of them entailing complex processes of synthetic chemistry and industrial engineering.

An interesting and gratifying phase of this trend of national development, bringing reduced dependence on imports and industrial advances elsewhere, is the extent to which it is being carried out by Canadian engineers, chemists, production technicians and other experts in present-day technology. This has been made possible to a considerable degree by the training and experience Canadians have been able to glean from both universities and industry itself, especially from research and development programs of an advanced character.

The growing importance and value of Canadian-trained technical personnel are well illustrated by the expansion projects noted in the annual report of Canadian Industries Limited. The company last year embarked on an expansion program calling for a total ultimate outlay of $56 millions, which is many times the extension work undertaken in any recent year and when completed will raise investment in plants and equipment to three times the total of 10 years ago.

The two principal projects are those of rection at Maitland, Ontario, between Prescott and Brockville, of a plant for production of the basic chemicals, from fractional petroleum by-products, for manufacture of nylon filaments;
and a plant near Edmonton to produce from natural gas the primary materials of manufacture of polythene, a flexible plastic with uses ranging from insulation of coaxial cable to bags for fruit and vegetables.

The Edmonton project is to cost $13 millions, and cost of the nylon components plant, while not officially announced, is likely to run well over $20 millions. Finished nylon and polythene have been made for some time by C.I.L., at Kingston and Shawinigan Falls.

In planning these advanced projects of chemical engineering, C.I.L. was able to obtain technical guidance from its associated U.S. and British concerns—Du Pont and Imperial Chemical Industries —which developed nylon and polythene. It also had the benefit of access, for study purposes, to their plants by C.I.L. engineers. But apart from this, the construction and operation of the two plants will be entirely in the hands of Canadian technicians and production experts.

It is gratifying that Canadian resources in technical engineering and production know-how should be capable of tackling such intricate undertakings and establishing such advanced processes in Canada.

Voice of the People

84.2%. In the nearby state of Montana, where settlement is scattered and large farms are the rule, 73.8% are electrified. In Washington State, the figure is 93.7%. In our own Canadian Province of Manitoba, about 60% of the farms are now electrified.

In all these cases farmers can get power without being forced to pay for lines. After all, the most important thing is to get power to the great majority of farms.
Any system which does not do this is no good, no matter how many articles are written to extol its virtues by the people who are making money out of it.

To get action on the F.U.A. plan of rural electrification requires concerted effort on the part of the rural people of Alberta. If farmers get behind their Union and take a strong stand with their elected representatives, results will not be long in coming. On the other hand, if they accept meekly, the deal that is handed out, they will get more of the same.

In Alberta, we are up against a strongly entrenched Power Monopoly which is concerned mainly with keeping its hold for the sake of the profits to be made in supplying power to the industrial areas of the present and future.
Alberta farmers will be well advised to ignore their propaganda and get together on the demand for a new deal on rural electrification.

Farmers Union of Alberta.

Coyote Control Policy Approved

LAC LA BICHE—Application for the establishment of a coyote control policy in L.I.D. No. 102 has been approved and the first meeting for this purpose was held in Craighend hall on June 4.

There are now 22 fully trained cyanide gun operators in this area who have received form "B" under the Agriculture Pests Act. Warning signs will be posted throughout the area where the poison cyanide guns are located and being used to poison coyotes.

All persons are cautioned not to touch or remove the cartridges, they contain deadly poison—tampering with them may set them off and cause serious injury or death. Removing or interfering with coyote getters is unlawful.

Dog owners are urged to keep their dogs away from these coyote getters.

The Alberta government requests the co-operation of the public in the effort to protect livestock and game. The pest control officer for L.I.B. No. 102, Briereville, is Mr. R. E. Graham, and for Craighend area is Mr. J. Gervais.

Letter to the Editor

THE BUSINESS OF ELECTING A GOVERNMENT MEMBER

Dear Sir: In order to gain publication in a local newspaper it is necessary to keep an impartial attitude toward all aspirants of the different parties seeking public favor in an election year. This is a serious handicap for a writer trying to hold a sane expression of public issues, however if more of the issues are brought out into the open, the more intelligently can the masses in the constituency obtain the best use of their ballot.

The records show that Beaver River, now the Lac La Biche Constituency, have been bad guessers in political trends. We have elected opposition members to the governments of the day in provincial, as well as dominion houses of parliament. Our last elections have given us a Liberal in the Dominion and a Social Creditor in the province, as a result we have obtained fair slices of the government expenditures in both fields. The air field at Lac La Biche, the wharf at the same place and the big new project at Cold Lake are not small items to this account, for the 'Dominion' or federal if that hurts Hon. St. Laurent's feelings.

In the provincial field, we are at last receiving some of the attention we have long needed but seldom received in the matters of roads, school grants, hospitalization, and in agriculture, we now have a resident district agriculturist in the town of Lac la Biche.

Dealing with roads, which is the most important issue of the day, the first in necessity, and affecting every single man, woman and child in the constituency in obtaining the full use of the other facilities above mentioned, let us sum up the present actual facts as they appear to the general public.

The tremendous sum of Eighty thousand dollars is nearly three times the total allotment in any year previous to 1946. No allotment to any district was more than 1500 dollars for all roads in the community. The price today of one mile of road under the present management of a single authority, the district engineer.

Arrogance of a civil servant can damage the most sincere efforts of a government for the people's welfare. All five engineers with whom I have worked assumed only supervisory authority, except the sixth and last man for whom I worked. Executive control and the hiring and discharge of a foreman's staff were never mentioned. The foreman had to produce the results required under the engineer's specifications or take the consequences. Naturally you walked the tight rope of exact expenditure and public opinion that added up to efficient and satisfactory work.

Blank allotments for any road and secrecy of expenditures are unnecessary, if the foreman and his engineer are experienced men. To assume this knowledge is nobody's business but the engineer's in charge is bad business, even to the most partisan of any political affiliation.

Lac La Biche is now large enough to have their centre in their own constituency. Facilities for repair need not bear the extra expense entailed by a hundred mile trip from St. Paul by the machine repair truck stationed in St. Paul. There are good machine shops in La Biche. There are a number of good self-propelled welding and repair units that can be brought for the cost of a telephone ticket to the scene of a repair job at a huge saving of time and cost. We have several of the best mechanics in the business and certainly as capable as anything St. Paul can produce, none of whom in the later place contributes one cent to the taxation of this constituency.

The same applies to labor employment. Key positions are held by men not concerned with the actual progress or betterment of this locality. The recent district foreman appointment is but one of the necessary needs for a better understanding of local road problems. We commend our member in this breach of St. Paul's autocratic control.

The extraordinary resurgence of Social Credit enthusiasm at the late convention should equip the member-elect, Harry Lobay, with the necessary authority to bring about suitable changes and reforms more in line with the best interests and wishes of his constituents, and thus render the autocratic coercion of a civil servant less conspicuous, than has been their experience in the last four years.

Figures prove that the little district of McRae, with less than sixty registered voters, declared a clear majority for the government candidate of forty, thus contributing more than the six-hundred Lac La Biche town residents in final results is food for thought. If the six-hundred and sixty could agree, what a tremendous potential voice in the affairs of the constituency would be theirs.

—Henry Thompson.

In the last year 16,000 workers in Canada's textile industries have been discharged and most of the remaining 90,000 are on short time. This unemployment has not resulted from a decrease in textile purchases but from increased imports of cheap goods.

135 Stores, 6,000-Car Parking For New Edmonton Shopping Centre

Edmonton's "Shoppersville" To Be Largest In World

Greater Edmonton Shopping Centre Ltd., the firm behind "Shoppersville," released plans and architectural elevations to the Sun this week showing the proposed plot plan and building intended for construction north of the City limits on Namao Road. Plans call for complete development of 160 acres, and an expenditure of approximately $15,000,000.

The centre, which is planned to provide complete shopping services of most Canadian cities, will be constructed on the quarter-section one-half mile north of the city limits, on the east side of the Namao Road. In this area is the Army development and the Air Force activity at the Namao airport, which officials state will have several thousand permanent residents.

6,000-CAR PARKING

Edmonton will have one of the most modern and complete suburban shopping centres on the continent when plans of Greater Shopping Centre Ltd. go through. The quarter-section of land on which it is proposed to build Shoppersville will house two major department stores, dozens of specialty stores, restaurants, banks, an office building with medical and dental services, a theatre seating two thousand, an auditorium seating one thousand, and parking facilities for six thousand cars and five hundreds trucks.

ALL-WEATHER PLAYGROUNDS

Two all-weather play-grounds are planned under constant supervision of trained nurses and recreational officers. They will have a children's paradise of toys, swings, wading pools, teeters, trains, sand-piles and so on. It is planned to charge ten cents admission per infant or child, with the entire proceeds to go to a Crippled Children's Fund.

The auditorium will be available without charge, at any time, to city clubs and organizations of non-profit nature. All other Shoppersville features, except parking, will fall into ordinary commercial services.

Major part of the construction will consist of one-storey retail stores. Drug stores, florists, meat-markets, shoe-stores, stationers, hardwares, dime-stores, dress-shops, men's wear will be typical of this part of Shoppersville. A fifty-stall farmer's market will also be provided for.

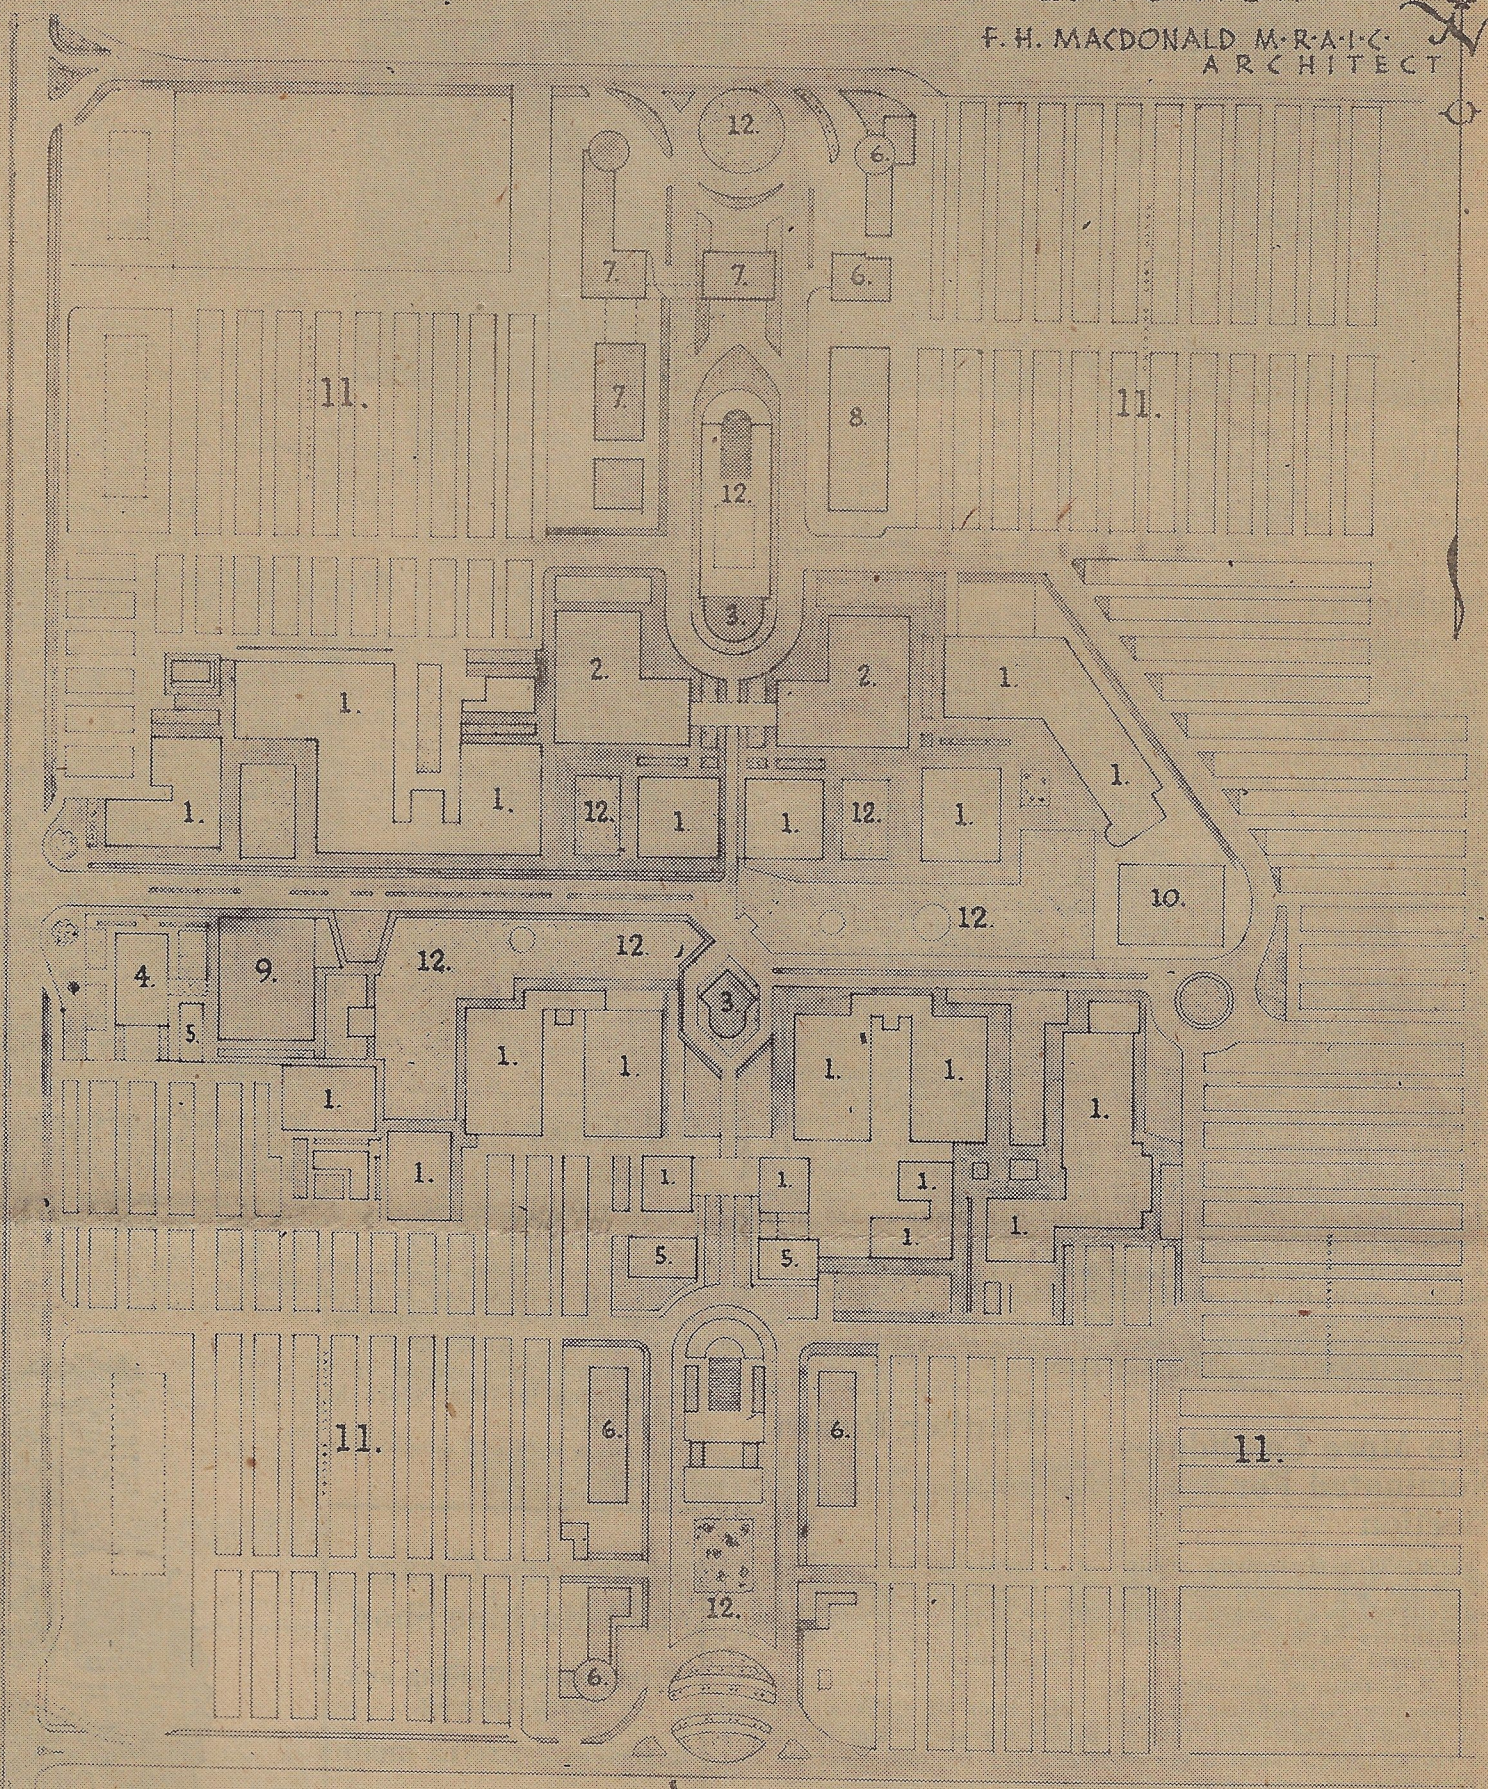

Details of parking have been incorporated from the largest and most successful U.S. shopping centres. Typically, a Shoppersville visitor will park his car in one of the parking areas, and an attendant will provide a free metal tag, bearing the parking space number. By presenting this tag at the time of purchase anywhere in Shoppersville, parcels will be sent back to the owner's parking stall free of charge, and stored in a weather-proof parking bin, ready for claiming from the attendant on the return of the metal tag.

In order to provide relief from aching feet, architects of the project have provided a shopper's train, which will circulate through the centre, making stops and picking up passengers, all free of charge.

Greater Edmonton Shopping Centre Ltd., with local and Eastern backing, announces construction will probably begin this fall. From the commencement of construction until the opening of the centre will take little more than twelve months. Bishop & Bishop are solicitors for the firm; Fred H. Macdonald the architect.

SHOPPERSVILLE WILL BE DIVIDED for the convenience of shoppers into "Service Areas." For example, food specialty shops will be in one section, a clothing store in another, and the 50-stall farmers' market in still another. Illustrated here is an architectural elevation of the proposed food store.

Graduation Ceremonies

GRASSLAND—Graduation ceremonies for Grassland High School took place in the Community hall on Thursday. Graduates included Walter Ilnicki, Geo. Klemiuk, Walter Adashinski, Bill Choma and Walter Hewko. Victor Poulin was master of ceremonies. Mrs. Mary Duniec was convener. Supper arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. Hrynyk, assisted by the Grade 8 girls.

Chief speaker of the evening was Mr. Clarke, professor of Psychology at the University of Alberta. Walter Adashinski gave the address to the parents, and Walter Hewko the class history. Walter Ilnicki was the valedictorian.

Songs were rendered by the High School Choral Group, accompanied at the piano by Mr. McNeil, the school principal.

"God Save the Queen" brought an end to the proceedings. A dance followed, with Sauer's orchestra providing the music.

The hall was tastefully decorated in the school colors, grey and red.

Two More Candidates Nominated For Election

EDMONTON—Two more nominations for the next Alberta general election were announced by headquarters of the Social Credit and Liberal parties here.

W. R. Cornish of Mannville was unanimously re-nominated as Social Credit candidate for Vermilion riding. Irvin J. Baril, a Bonnyville insurance and real estate man, was nominated by the Liberals as a candidate for the new Bonnyville seat.

At the forthcoming election, the present riding of Beaver River will be eliminated while two new rural ridings, Lac la Biche and Bonnyville, will elect members for the first time.

About 400 persons, 200 of these delegates from all parts of the riding, attended the Liberal nominating convention in Bonnyville. Speakers included J. Harper Prowse, Alberta Liberal leader, Roger Belzil, vice-president of the Alberta Liberal Association, and Laval J. Fortier, Liberal candidate for St. Paul.

There were 21 accredited candidates at the Vermilion riding Social Credit nominating convention in Mannville. A farmer and legislative member since 1944, Mr. Cornish was a unanimous choice for re-nomination. LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I have a wife who is a good woman and a very good church worker. But the trouble is that she neglects her home and her children while she is doing these things that she considers her duty. She will work herself down preparing a church supper while the children and I are at home trying to find something to eat. She will be leading the missionary circle while the children are imposing on the neighbors or somewhere that they have no business to be.

When I remonstrate with her about these things she always says that the Lord's work comes first with her. What can I do about such a situation?

Answer:

You might tell your wife that the Lord's work is taking care of her family and is more important than some of the other things she does. I think it is wonderful for women to support their church and to make every effort to do their part of its work but certainly not at the expense of her own family's care and training.

The mother who watches over her children's welfare and moral lives has a big job and one that should come first with her.

She doesn't have to neglect them to have a part in the church. She can do those things that can be done at times when they do not interfere with the home. Surely, she can manage matters so that the children can be cared for by someone else while she does church work.

LOUISA.

SOME PLANTING INCREASE EXPECTED FOR PROVINCE

EDMONTON—Alberta farmers are expected to plant approximately 20,000,000 acres of grain this year, the provincial agriculture department said Thursday in a tentative estimate.

Last year farmers seeded 6,364,000 acres of wheat, 2,639,000 acres of oats, 3,011,000 acres of barley, 1,400,000 acres of flax and 6,090,000 acres of rye.

"Reports indicate that similar acreages will be seeded this Spring," said R. E. English, the department's statistician. "We expect increased seeding particularly of wheat, in the more fortunate districts."

He said accurate statistics on seeding plans will be made available probably in a few days when a report is received from the agricultural division of the Federal Bureau of Statistics. The report will be based on questionnaires sent to 2,000 Alberta farmers.

Meanwhile A. W. Wilson, field crops commissioner, said that with the exception of portions of the Peace River area and a pocket of land east of Calgary, harvesting was complete.

TRAPPER LOST 3 MONTHS; ATE 4 DOGS TO SURVIVE

FORT RELIANCE, N.W.T.—(BUP)—Trapper Jack Knox, 60, is all set to return to his sub-Arctic trappings, despite a grim fight for survival while lost three months in the snow-swept barrenlands.

Knox, missing since Feb. 12, when he left his lonely cabin, 200 miles east of Fort Reliance, said he ate four of his six husky dogs to stay alive.

The veteran trapper walked into Reliance, on the tip of Great Slave Lake recently. He had a gripping tale to tell but still wore a smile on his weather-beaten face.

Knox, who was pronounced fit despite his ordeal, said that when he set out mushing his six dogs toward Reliance he followed the usual route along a ridge for three days.

Then a blizzard struck and he mistook a break in the ridge for a signal to turn south-west to Burbank Lake. He found a "long, lean" lake, resembling Burbank, but it wasn't the right lake.

Knox was able to travel only about one mile a day at times as the blizzard continued to rage. He killed four of his dogs for food, sparing the lead dog and a puppy.

Later, the two remaining dogs, gnawed by hunger, spotted a moose and went after it. The pup returned but Knox never saw his trusty lead dog again.

After days of travel, the trapper got back on course and made his way on foot to Reliance. His pup was with him when he reached the small outpost.

Knox told Sgt. T. R. J. Ansley, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., an army signals man at Reliance, that he would be returning to his cabin soon to pick up furs he had cached after the winter catch. The trapper added that he would go back to the barrenlands next winter to continue trapping.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Royal Canadian Air Force had conducted an intensive airground search for Knox in April, but found no trace of him.

Ottawa will spend a billion dollars this year for social security, half as much as for national defence.

When I was a girl there was a bachelor living in our district who had an exceptionally long nose. We passed some remark about it to others and apparently he heard what was said. The next time he met us he caught hold of his nose and, holding it to one side, said, "Ladies, can you pass?"

No Stopping This Pedestrian

An Edmonton pedestrian found his way was blocked by four cars parked across a sidewalk outside a city garage. The garage proprietors refused to move the cars so the pedestrian walked over the tops of the four vehicles.

The garage man called police. They were told they must not block the sidewalk. The pedestrian was told he must not walk on the tops of cars. The incident then was considered closed.

Electricity In House Cleaning

Spring and summer appear to be the most opportune time of year for cleaning, decorating or remodelling in the home; cleaning out closets, basements and furnaces. One great advantage in an electrically modern home is the closet light that automatically goes on when the door opens and off when the door closes. Even a light controlled by a switch just outside the closet door is an added convenience. Spring cleaning is completed in a shorter time and year-round neatness facilitated, discouraging the ravages of moths.

Another advantage is the modern vacuum cleaner, designed for fast and thorough cleaning, made possible when convenient outlets are thoughtfully placed for the purpose. This points up the wisdom of providing for such needs at the time of building, or before remodelling. To enjoy full benefits of the vacuum cleaner, each room should have outlets so placed that the appliance can be plugged in without moving rugs or furniture or disconnecting lamps. According to electricians, this calls for an outlet every 10 or 12 feet of wall space. Another important consideration is enough electric current to ensure full suction. Insufficient power makes the operation of the vacuum less effective. The size of your main switch and the size of wire in the circuits is responsible for the amount of current.

Consultation with an electrician, the local utility or Electric Service League will help homemakers meet present and future household electrical needs with adequate wiring, enough electric current and convenience outlets in keeping with floor plans of furniture. Such consultation is free of charge.

Gunn Welfare Centre Only One In Canada

By E. H. RAY

The Gunn Welfare Centre, overlooking historic Lac Ste. Anne, makes an attractive and comfortable home for single men without homes or jobs. Most of the men have physical disabilities and cannot do hard work, but all must be able to move around and take care of themselves and their own room.

The cottages are warm and fire resistant, and each houses four men. Each man has his own room, with a colorful blanket on the bed and complete with bright pictures, chairs, dressers, clothes cupboard and linoleum floor covering. Heat is supplied by oil burning stoves.

Outside a big red barrel holds rainwater from the roof of each cottage, and this is used to water the flowers which are planted around the cottage. Mr. Len Bennett, an old age pensioner, who suffers from asthma, is the gardener, and is responsible for the rockeries and landscaping, but the men are interested assistants.

The large gardens supply vegetables and the new orchards will soon produce fruit.

The camp was opened in 1941, and is the only one of its kind in Canada.

The large recreation room is used for movies and church, and boasts a piano, a recent gift which is much appreciated. There is a library, games rooms, writing rooms, radio and a barber shop. The wash room, complete with showers, is in another building. There is an Italian cook, Tony Pasquile, who served with the Canadians in World War One. With his helpers, he bakes 25-30 loaves of bread daily, as well as many pies and cakes.

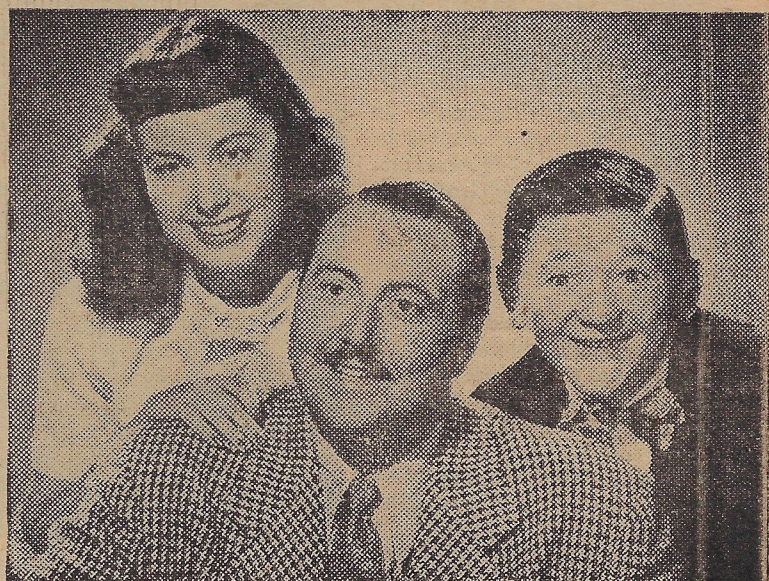

The men are served four at a table, with delicious, well-balanced meals and all the milk they care to drink. A new and much larger kitchen and dining room unit is under construction. Besides room and board the men cared for at the camp receive clothing and tobacco.

Mr. E. T. McCollough, superintendent of the Welfare Centre who, with his wife and two sons, lives in an attractive cottage too, has a boat which the men are often permitted to use for fishing.

The men are free to leave the camp at will, and many do leave to work in the summer, returning for the winter months.

Family Reunion Held In Vegreville

GRASSLAND — Mr. and Mrs. John Stepaniuk paid a surprise visit last week to the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stepaniuk at Grassland, which later resulted in a family reunion at Vegreville. After a few days at Grassland, both Stepaniuk families, together with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Borduzak and family, travelled to Edmonton. From there, joined by numerous other friends and relations, the whole party, which by this time amounted to over 60 persons, rushed to Vegreville. There they joined in celebrating the 31st anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Bucik, son-in-law and daughter, respectively, of Mr. and Mrs. John Stepaniuk.

During supper, the couple were presented with a beautiful silverware set, dishes and glassware. A dance followed the presentation, and continued until day-break.

On the way home, both Mr. Stepaniuk and Mr. Borduzak remarked on the backward state of the crops, as compared with those around Grassland, and consider that conditions in this district are the best seen during the trip.

PROTECT YOUR CROP INVESTMENT
BY WINDROWING
THE McCORMICK-DEERING WAY

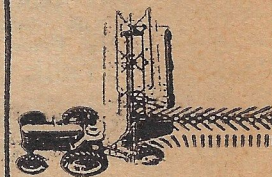

To prevent any damage to your grain crop from weather, insects, weeds or moisture, windrowing before threshing is certainly a step forward in farming practices—especially when done the McCormick-Deering way!

The No. 120 Windrower (12 or 15-foot size) handles the grain quickly and easily in its smooth operation. Adjusts to crops of all heights. Completely power-driven, it has the light draft that comes from use of numerous ball and roller bearings, and gears running in oil. The No. 6, in 6 and 8-foot sizes, is built for use on smaller acreages.

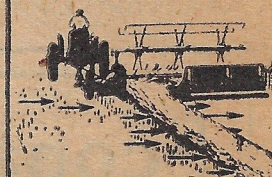

You'll probably agree with us that windrowing can mean a better grade of grain under many conditions... and now we'd like to point out how well a McCormick-Deering Windrower can do this job for you. Stop by next time you're in town.

Low-built windrower bends stubble.

Grain laid like lattice on rising stubble.

Off-ground windrow permits free air circulation.
